earned his MBA at McGill, as well as a graduate diploma in education and a graduate degree in applied management. Mr. Dracopoulos has taught a broad range of business courses. He is an advocate of experiential learning and dedicates a significant amount of class time to hands-on assignments. His primary interests are in the fields of marketing and management.

Outside his teaching career, Mr. Dracopoulos has worked in various marketing and sales positions. In addition to this text, he has worked on many publishing projects providing web content as well as supporting multimedia and supplemental academic material. While completing his university education, he spent a semester abroad studying management globalization issues in Europe. He has also spent a considerable amount of time coaching high-level sports and organizing events in his spare time. Recent Pearson publications include Business in Action, In-Class Edition, Second Canadian Edition (2009), co-authored with Courtland L. Bovée and John V. Thill.
