Contents

How to be a great coach 1

— Be a boss!
  Be a coach 5

— Force them
  Motivate them 9

— Make your own decisions
  Ask for their opinions 13

— Achieve perfection
  Admit your mistakes 17

— Protect your privacy
  Be accessible 21

— Talk the talk
  Be a good listener 25

— Have all the answers
  Ask good questions 29
Stifle gripes
  Welcome complaints

Lecture the masses
  Coach one-on-one

Use that big vocabulary
  Watch your language

Coach for conformity
  Celebrate the differences

Make yourself indispensable
  Empower independent employees

Reserve judgment
  Make the call

Provide all the answers
  Solve problems together

Don’t be the bad guy
  Deliver the bad news personally

Don’t get mad
  Don’t act out of anger

Put it in writing
  Avoid memo mania

Abolish meetings
  Manage meetings

viii
—Expect them to know—

Train them

—Give ‘em hell—

Stress the positive

—Money talks—

Reward what you want

—Don’t overpraise—

Provide positive feedback

—Don’t be just a cheerleader—

Advocate for your employees

—Start right—

Just get started

The McGraw-Hill Mighty Managers Handbooks