

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments xv

Part I Introduction 1

Chapter 1 Improving Public Sector Performance by Seizing Opportunities to Meet
Citizen Needs 3

What Do Citizens Want and Get from Public Agencies? 6

What Tools Currently Used in the Private Sector Can Most Benefit the Public Sector? 7

What Role Can Marketing Play in Improving the Performance of Public Agencies? 10

Going Forward 11

Chapter 2 Understanding the Marketing
Mindset 15

Opening Story: The United States Postal Service—A Work in Progress 17

The Marketing Mindset 24

Moving from Here 38

Part II Applying Marketing Tools to the Public Sector 39

Chapter 3 Developing and Enhancing Popular Programs and Services 41

Opening Story: School Meal Revolution in the United Kingdom 42

Product: The First “P” 46

Summary 63

- Chapter 4 Setting Motivating Prices, Incentives, and Disincentives 65
- Opening Story: Click It or Ticket* 66
- Price: The Second “P”* 69
- Summary* 85
- Chapter 5 Optimizing Distribution Channels 87
- Opening Story: HIV/AIDS in Nepal—Sarita is Empowered to Buy Condoms When and Where She Needs Them* 88
- Place: The Third “P”* 92
- Summary* 105
- Chapter 6 Creating and Maintaining a Desired Brand Identity 107
- Opening Story: ENERGY STAR®—A Brand Positioned to Help Protect the Planet* 108
- Branding in the Public Sector* 113
- Summary* 131
- Chapter 7 Communicating Effectively with Key Publics 133
- Opening Story: Increasing Organ Donation* 134
- Promotion: The Fourth “P”* 138
- Developing Messages* 139
- Choosing Messengers* 146
- Selecting Communication Channels* 149
- Summary* 161
- Chapter 8 Improving Customer Service and Satisfaction 163
- Opening Story: Phoenix Fire Department—“A Peace Corps with a Tank of Water”* 165
- Customer Service in the Public Sector* 169
- Benefits of Improved Customer Satisfaction* 170

Practices to Support Customer Satisfaction 174
Summary 183

Chapter 9

Influencing Positive Public Behaviors: Social Marketing 187

Opening Story: From “Fat to Fit” in Finland 188
Social Marketing in the Public Sector 191
Principle #1: Take Advantage of Prior and Existing Successful Campaigns 193
Principle #2: Start with Target Markets Most Ready for Action 195
Principle #3: Promote Single, Simple, Doable Behaviors—One at a Time 196
Principle #4: Identify and Remove Barriers to Behavior Change 197
Principle #5: Bring Real Benefits into the Present 199
Principle #6: Highlight Costs of Competing Behaviors 201
Principle #7: Promote a Tangible Object or Service to Help Target Audiences Perform the Behavior 202
Principle #8: Consider Nonmonetary Incentives in the Form of Recognition and Appreciation 203
Principle #9: Have a Little Fun with Messages 205
Principle #10: Use Media Channels at the Point of Decision Making 206
Principle #11: Get Commitments and Pledges 207
Principle #12: Use Prompts for Sustainability 209
Applications Upstream 211
Summary 212

Chapter 10	Forming Strategic Partnerships 215
	Opening Story: Improving Jordan's Water Problems—For the People, By the People, Through Partnerships 216
	Benefits of Strategic Partnerships 220
	Partnerships with the Private Sector 222
	Partnerships with the Nonprofit Sector 230
	Partnerships between Governmental Agencies 236
	Difficulties and Risks in Partnerships 237
	A Marketing Approach to Winning Great Partners and Reducing Risks 238
	Summary 242
Part III	Managing the Marketing Process 243
Chapter 11	Gathering Citizen Data, Input, and Feedback 245
	Opening Story: Building a Healthy Nation through Research in South Africa 246
	Marketing Research in the Public Sector 249
	Research Defined by When It Is Conducted 250
	Research Defined by Source of Information 251
	Research Defined by Technique 253
	Steps in the Research Process 255
	A Word about Low-Cost Research 259
	Summary 260
Chapter 12	Monitoring and Evaluating Performance 261
	Opening Story: An Environmental Behavior Index—Helping to Quantify What Happened and Decide What to Do Next 262
	Measuring Marketing Performance 265
	Why Are You Conducting This Measurement and for Whom? 267

What Are You Measuring?	268
How Will You Measure?	272
When Will You Measure?	273
How Much Will It Cost?	274
Summary	274

Chapter 13Developing a Compelling
Marketing Plan 277

Opening Story: New York City Marketing Starts Spreading the News	278
Marketing Planning in the Public Sector	281
Marketing Objectives and Goals	284
Target Audience	285
Positioning	286
Marketing Mix	286
Evaluation Plan	288
Budget	289
Implementation Plan	289
Summary	290

References* 291About the Authors* 309Index* 311