

Contents

List of figures	vi
List of tables	vii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgements	xvi
1 Introduction: international and global nature of tourism and hospitality	1
2 Culture: a cross-cultural perspective	30
3 Intercultural competence, intercultural sensitivity, and cultural intelligence	54
4 Culture and context in communication	83
5 The influence of indulgence and restraint on tourism and hospitality	106
6 Power distance as a cultural variable	138
7 Uncertainty avoidance as a cultural variable	175
8 Masculinity versus femininity, gender egalitarianism, and assertiveness	211
9 The influence of individualism and collectivism on tourism and hospitality	241
10 Performance and humane orientation as cultural variables	271
11 Time orientation as a cultural variable	294
12 A review of Trompenaars and Hampden-Turner's cultural dimensions	315
13 Conclusions	332
Index	348

Figures

1.1	Dyadic influence of cross-cultural characteristics on tourism and hospitality social servicescape	8
1.2	Customer/marketing perspective: the influence of culture on customers	13
1.3	Service provider/management perspective: influence of culture on employees and managers	13
1.4	Service blueprint for a restaurant	18
1.5	Service experiences	19
2.1	Factors influencing consumer behaviour	35
2.2	Values, norms, and artefacts and practices	38
3.1	Model of intercultural competence	66
4.1	High- and low-context cultures continuum	86
4.2	Communication in high- and low-context cultures	86
6.1	Employee empowerment and service recovery	160
9.1	Lines used in the Asch's experiments	249
12.1	Universalistic and particularistic cultures continuum	318
12.2	Neutral and affective cultures continuum	321
12.3	Achievement-oriented and ascription-oriented cultures continuum	325

Tables

1.1	Marketing mix elements in tourism and hospitality	10
1.2	Service quality dimensions and marketing mix elements	14
1.3	Gap model of service quality	16
1.4	Types of tourism	23
2.1	The influence of culture on customers	31
2.2	Cultural models in service recovery	33
2.3	Perspectives of the definitions of culture	37
2.4	Main features of culture	41
2.5	Meanings shared by a society	43
2.6	Cultural theories, dimensions proposed by scholars	44
2.7	Cross-cultural dimensions	47
4.1	High- and low-context countries and their main characteristics	84
4.2	Proxemics and the types of space	99
5.1	Indulgence and restraint values in selected countries	109
5.2	Basic summary of the main characteristics of indulgence and restraint cultures.	111
5.3	Potential tourism and hospitality incidents relating to indulgence and restraint	114
5.4	Indulgence indicators in the marketing mix elements of emirates	115
5.5	SERVQUAL and women's key areas of aptitude	128
6.1	Power distance scores of selected countries in the world	141
6.2	Characteristics of high and low power distance cultures	143
6.3	Customer waiting situations in tourism and hospitality	163
7.1	Uncertainty avoidance scores of selected countries in the world	178
7.2	Basic summary of the main characteristics of low and high-uncertainty avoidance cultures	179
7.3	Types of risk in tourism and hospitality	195
7.4	Types of control and strategies to provide control to customers	197
8.1	Basic summary of the main characteristics of masculinity and femininity	213
8.2	Income equality and inequality in selected countries in the world	215
8.3	Masculinity and femininity scores of selected countries in the world	216
8.4	Assertive behaviours	217
8.5	Assertiveness and gender egalitarianism scores of selected countries	219

Tables

8.6	Airport and air flight services and their relationship to marketing mix elements	228
8.7	Main differences between men and women at work	230
9.1	Individualism scores selected countries in the world	244
9.2	Summary of the main characteristics of individualistic and collectivistic cultures	245
10.1	Summary of the main characteristics of high and low performance orientation	273
10.2	Associations of high and low performance orientations with other cultural dimensions	274
10.3	Summary of the main characteristics of high and low human orientation	276
10.4	Associations of high and low humane orientations with other cultural dimensions	278
10.5	Performance- and humane-orientation scores of selected countries	280
10.6	GDP per hour worked in OECD countries	283
11.1	Future orientation scores of selected countries	295
11.2	Long-term orientation scores for countries in the world	298
11.3	Summary of the main characteristics of long- and short-term oriented cultures	300
11.4	Monochronic and polychronic cultures	304
12.1	Characteristics of universalistic and particularistic societies	317
12.2	Recommendations for interacting with people from universalistic and particularistic cultures	318
12.3	Characteristics of individualistic and communitarian (collectivistic) societies	319
12.4	Recommendations for interacting with people from universalistic and particularistic cultures	320
12.5	Characteristics of individualistic and communitarian (collectivistic) societies	326
13.1	The influence of cultural dimensions on marketing mix	337
13.2	The influence of cultural dimensions on other services marketing and consumer behaviour related issues	339