

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	1
1. WESTERN PACIFIC REGION	7
1.1 Foodborne diseases in the Western Pacific Region	7
1.2 Food safety concerns in the Western Pacific Region	8
1.3 Policies and plans of action in the Western Pacific Region	10
1.4 Consumer organizations in the Western Pacific Region	12
2. SOUTH EAST ASIAN REGION	14
2.1 Foodborne diseases in the South East Asian Region	14
2.2 Food safety concerns in the South East Asian Region	14
2.3 Policies and plans of action in the South East Asian Region	15
2.4 Consumer organizations in the South East Asian Region	16
3. EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN REGION	17
3.1 Foodborne diseases in the Eastern Mediterranean Region	17
3.2 Policies and plans of action in the Eastern Mediterranean Region	18
3.3 Consumer organizations in the Eastern Mediterranean Region	22
4. AFRICAN REGION	23
4.1 Foodborne diseases in the African Region	23
4.2 Food safety concerns in the African Region	24
4.3 Policies and plans of action in the African Region	27
4.4 Consumer organizations in the African Region	29
5. EUROPEAN REGION	30
5.1 Foodborne diseases in the European Region	30
5.2 Food safety concerns in the European Region	32
5.3 Food safety oversight in the European Region	36
5.4. Policies and plans of action in the European Region	39
5.5 Consumer organizations in the European Region	44

6. CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICAN REGION	46
6.1 Foodborne diseases in the Central and South American Region	46
6.2 Food safety concerns in the Central and South American Region	47
6.3 Policies and plans of action in the Central and South American Region	49
6.4 Consumer organizations in the Central and South American Region	50
7. NORTH AMERICAN REGION	53
7.1 Foodborne diseases in the North American Region	53
7.2 Food safety concerns in the North American Region	54
7.3 Policies and plans of action in the North American Region	63
7.4 Consumer organizations in the North American Region	65
CONCLUSION	66
ENDNOTES	68