Special issue with the 2019 BAFA Accounting Education SIG Annual Conference, Ghent, Belgium

Natalie T. Churyk Editor-in-Chief

Northern Illinois University, United States

In May of 2017, Greg Stoner (Glasgow University) and Alan Sangster (University of Aberdeen) approached me about creating a special issue related to the 2019 BAFA Accounting Education SIG Annual Conference in Ghent, Belgium. I enthusiastically agreed. We then approached the conference organizers Patricia Everaert (University of Ghent) and Evelien Opdecam (University of Ghent) and they too enthusiastically agreed to the special issue.

Over the next two years, the American Accounting Association (AAA), the Journal (Elsevier), and the University of Ghent publicized the special issue call inviting manuscript submissions. The Journal's associate editors processed all manuscripts for the special issue and a huge thank you goes out to them for this.

Special issues now have a virtual format with articles appearing in multiple volumes as they are accepted. We received a total of 8 submissions with the final number of published manuscripts yet to be determined. Thank you to all of the individuals who submitted manuscripts.

Fifteen individuals, whose names are listed below, reviewed manuscripts for this special issue. I thank these individuals for their service as a member of the Special Issue Reviewer Board.
